Kudos

- WSU Extension Douglas County now recognized CDC DPP
Washington State Extension, Douglas County has achieved full DPP recognition and is now on CDC's National DPP Registry! Congratulations!

New Resources

- Diabetes Prevention Programs in Washington – Achievements and Resources

Several new or updated documents are now available on the Diabetes Connection that highlight achievements and resources related to the Diabetes Prevention Programs in Washington State.

These include:

Recognition: There are now 11 Nationally Recognized \(full or preliminary\) DPP Programs in our state

Locations: There are now more than 80 locations offering a DPP program

Medicare DPP Resource Sheet: An updated list of resources to support organizations seeking to participate in Medicare DPP

- National Diabetes Education Program: Updated Guiding Principles for the Care of People with or at Risk for Diabetes

Providing diabetes care can be challenging. While there are strategies that work, there is opportunity to enhance the uptake of proven therapies and prevention of type 2 diabetes. The large health and financial impact of diabetes and the gaps in achievement of treatment and prevention goals prompted the National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP) to establish Guiding Principles for the Care of People with or at Risk for Diabetes. These Guiding Principles aim to identify and synthesize areas of general agreement among existing guidelines to help guide primary care providers and health care teams to deliver quality care to adults with or at risk for diabetes.

This recent update reflects new and changing evidence that has evolved over the last several years, including

- Emphasis on the importance of diabetes self-management education and support and patient-centered care using shared decision-making and individualized care
- Development of a new Principle 6: Address Overweight and Obesity in the Management of Diabetes

- National Institutes of Health: Diabetes in America, 3rd Edition

Press Release; Highlight Video

“Researchers at the National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases (NIDDK), part of the National Institutes of Health – along with leading diabetes experts from around the country and world – have developed the third edition of a reference designed to be a one-stop source for crucial scientific information on diabetes and its complications: “Diabetes in America.”

The resource is designed to be useful to a variety of audiences. Through “Diabetes in America,” patients can better understand their condition, and practitioners can determine the likelihood that their patients will develop diabetes or associated complications. Health policy makers can use the resource to help guide decision-making, while scientists can use the resource to identify areas of needed research to advance care for people with or at risk for diabetes.”

- National Association of School Nurses: Do Your Students Count?

“Do your students count? Of course they do! NASN has created the data initiative Every Student Counts!™ to guide school nurses in how to collect important school health data. Another purpose of the initiative is to strengthen school nurses capacity to collect and use data, as well as for school nurses to collect specific data points the same way across the country. Go to the webpage and learn more about the data points to collect this year.”

Educational Opportunities

- Lifestyle Coach Training: November 7-8, 2018

Thanks to WSU Extension’s commitment to making the Diabetes Prevention Program more widely available in Washington, an affordable option for Lifestyle Coach training will be held November 7th & 8th, 2018, at Kadlec Healthplex in Richland. Space is available but limited. For details, see the flyer on the Diabetes Connection.

- Infographic Contest: Win 2 Registrations to 2018 Washington State Public Health Association Conference

“We are excited to announce our first infographic contest! Demonstrate your creative skills by designing infographics that showcase how you contribute to public health. Create something new or submit an existing infographic you have already made. The winning organization will receive 2 complimentary registrations for the 2019 Annual Conference. - Webinar Series: Taking Action to Promote Healthy Equity

Date: Tuesday, September 18, 2018

Time: 10:30 AM – Noon PM PT

Registration: Click here to register

“TFAH is launching a 4-part webinar series called Taking Action to Promote Health Equity—Using the Lessons from Cutting-Edge Practices to Improve Health and Well Being. Our goal is to shine a bright light on some of the most compelling and replicable activities that help advance health equity. Program speakers will share their lessons learned through practice and experiences that are transferable to diverse community settings - large or small, urban or rural and with substantial or minimal resources. And while a few of the examples may be familiar, the webinar series will feature excellent work that has not received much national attention... The first web forum of the series will analyze the impact of The California Endowment’s unprecedented Building Healthy Communities initiative.”

- Webinar: The Collective Impact of 1305 and 1422: Paving a Way for the Work Ahead

Date: Tuesday, September 25, 2018

Time: 2:00 PM – 3:30 PM EST

Registration: Click here to register

NOTE from DOH HSDP Team: The audience for this webinar is state health department staff and contractors funded by 1305 and 1422. However, since DNLT was a large part of DOH’s 1305/1422 work plans, we thought you may be interested in hearing about the outcomes from across the Nation.

“With the ending of CDC’s 1305/1422 and the beginning of 1815/1817, we invite you to join us as we look back at the work we have accomplished together over the last five years. As we forge ahead into the coming years and continue this work, we want to take a moment to celebrate our collective successes and learn from our challenges. This webinar will feature colleagues from CDC and six states that implemented innovative strategies to improve the lives of individuals living with and at risk of developing type 2 diabetes. There will also be time set aside for open dialogue with all participants. We want to hear from you, too! Please join us and share your successes, challenges, and plans for the future.”

- SAVE THE DATE: 6th Annual SPARKS Conference

- Webinar Series: Prediabetes Screening/Testing/Referral

Date: Tuesday, September 25, 2018

Time: 12:00 PM – 1:30 PM EST

Registration: Click here to register

ACPM will host a series of three (3) webinars this fall featuring grantees of the ACPM Diabetes Prevention Program demonstration project. This unique opportunity allows participants to speak directly with grantees and faculty, and ask questions as part of a live, interactive session. This Diabetes Prevention Program webinar series will examine health care organizations’ experiences developing and implementing protocols for screening, testing, and referring patients with prediabetes to a CDC-recognized type 2 diabetes prevention program. The webinars will be moderated by ACPM faculty member Heather Tindall Readhead, MD, MPH. Visit the webpage to learn more about and register for all three webinars.

- Webinar: Smoke-Ready Communities During Severe Wildfires

Date: Tuesday, September 25, 2018

Time: 12:00 PM – 1:00 PM EST

Registration: Click here to register

As severe wildfires and prolonged smoke events become more common, health departments are re-evaluating their role in addressing these issues. In this one-hour webinar, Sarah Coefield, MS, will examine the major health concerns associated with wildfires, such as respiratory distress, and their impacts to the public health system. She will also review how her agency partnered with non-profits to counter these concerns by encouraging smoke-readiness and clean air spaces for individuals, schools, and businesses.
